About Me

As a former division I collegiate rower at the University of Miami, FL, I believe that athletes of all skill levels must know how to recognize injury at the earliest stages, know what to do immediately upon becoming injured on the field or at home, know how to prevent injury with proper conditioning, taping and bracing, nutrition and chiropractic care and know when to ask for help when a nagging injury is not responding to home remedies.

I have a strong interest in High School and Collegiate Athletes, Prenatal and Pediatric Care, TMJ disorders and Ergonomic Evaluations.

I live in Denver with my husband, two sons and dog. I am an avid golfer and enjoy competing in triathlons.
